

23 October 1978

Classification Review Procedure

CRP 78-39

Assignment of Originating Component Code Number

In order to achieve uniformity in the assignment of a code number for the originating component on Form 4023A, the current successor component number will be used for those components which have been abolished or changed through reorganization. For example, the originating component number 047 for the European Division will be used for those documents originated in etc. during the period STATINTL when these countries were under a different geographical organization.

Chief,
Classification Review Group

STATINTL